The Irvin Cobb Cigar Co. has been incorporated at Paducah, probably with the privilege also of making Cobb pipes.

Rev. W. W. Barnard, aged 68, a somnambulist, walked out of a three story window at Lafayette, Ind., and was killed by the fall.

At Paterson, N. J., a strong wind caught up a baby playing near the Passaic river and blew her into the water and the little one was swept away.

Another General Scott has been sent to Mexico, repeating history of 70 years ago. The last one sent staid until peace terms were dictated by Uncle Sam.

The Senate without a dissenting vote passed the army reorganization bill that would produce a regular army and reserve military forces in the United States aggregating a million men. The bill is a substitute for the Hay bill passed by the House, and the differences will be worked out in conference.

The cause of prohibition in South Dakota gained heavily as a result of Tuesday's municipal elections, according to latest returns received, fourteen cities and towns going from the wet to the dry column. No dry towns voted for the return of saloons. Pierre, the capital, voted dry, as did Hot Springs, the famous Black Hills resort. Aberdeen, the second largest city in the state, remains in the dry column.

Henry Watterson's genius for picking the live topic and taking a position sufficiently novel and daring to provoke no end of controversy was never better illustrated than in the announcement that he has written, for publication April 23, an article in which he attributes the authorship of Shakespeare's plays to Christopher Marlowe and names Francis Bacon as their editor and Shakespeare as their producer.—Frankfort Journal.

President Wilson in his speech to Congress epitomized the provocation to the American Government from Germany's submarine warfare in the following paragraph:

"What has actually happened in the year which has since elapsed has shown that those hopes were not justified, those assurances insusceptible of being fulfilled. In pursuance of the policy of submarine warfare against the commerce of its adversaries, thus announced and entered upon by the Imperial German Government in spite of the solemn protest of this Government, the commanders of German under-sea vessels have attacked merchant ships with greater and greater activity, not only upon the high seas surrounding Great Britain and Ireland, but wherever they could encounter them, in a way that has grown more and more ruthless, more and more indiscriminate as the months have gone by, less and less observant of restraints of any kind and have delivered their attacks without compunction against vessels of every nationality and bound upon every sort of errand."

Official Evansville Centennial Design.

This year, one hundred years ago, the state of Indiana joined the Union, being the nineteenth member thereof and to mark the occasion, counties, towns and cities throughout the Hoosier state are planning Centennial celebrations.

The character of these celebrations will vary and the programs to be rendered are manifold but all will tend to carry out the idea and to observe the anniversary of this historical event. The city of Evansville is planning to hold one of the largest and most interesting celebrations at Evansville on May 9, 10, and 11th. Evansville, Indiana's Gateway to the south, is making preparations to make this a gala event. It will be doubly elaborate and of importance due to the fact that the Indiana state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be the city's guests at the same time, creating a joint celebration that will outclass any of the many other big affairs held in the second city of Indiana.

The encampment will open Tuesday, May 9th. In addition to the G. A. R., the various bodies of sons of veterans, the U. S. Spanish war veterans, women's relief corps, and all auxiliaries will hold conventions, meetings and entertainments will follow in rapid succession, morning, afternoon and evening, in the various large halls of the city. On the evening of May 10th, those attending the encampment will be given a moonlight excursion on the beautiful Ohio justly claimed the American Rhine. Business meetings will continue the morning of the 11th.

One of the big features of the entire celebration will be the monster gala parade to be held the afternoon of May 10th. This parade is divided in four large divisions with sub-divisions. The parade will be headed by the guests of honor, the veterans of the Civil War and the various military and semi-military organizations thereof. One of the most picturesque divisions ever attempted will be the historical division when thousands of on-lookers will be given a vivid panorama of our state's history by historical groups and floats. A unique division and a beautiful one will be the floral division, the parade committee has taken great pains in securing the best floral designer in the middle west. Great interest has been shown in the last division devoted to the leading industries of the state and city "made in Indiana and made in Evansville" is the slogan adopted for this division. Beautiful and classy floats representing various industries will be seen there. Over fifteen bands, more than thirty floats and numerous other features will make this spectacular street parade one of lasting impression.

One of the most noteworthy and principal events of the three day celebration will be the mammoth, historical festival play at Bosse Field on the evenings of May 10th and 11th. Two thousand people will participate in this historical spectacle which is to be given in twenty episodes, each one depicting a different period of our state's history. This immense play will be staged on the only municipal athletic stadium and baseball field in the state. Steel and concrete stands of the most modern kind will seat eight thousand people.

The open air stage will be 375x200 feet with immense scenic settings, powerful and detailed stage and lighting effects, containing and enactment that will astound. The production to be given is the first ever attempted on this gigantic scale.

Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon of Evansville, nationally known for her lectures and writings on housing reforms is the author of the recent book, Governor Samuel L. Ralston, state and national G. A. R. officers and other notables will attend the festivities. The city of Evansville will raise a large fund to make this three-day affair a huge success.
